TABANAN - Pura Ulun Danu Beratan is a major Hindu water temple located in the Bedugul area, in the highlands of Bali, Indonesia. The temple complex is located on the western shore of Lake Beratan, in the northern part of the island. The temple is dedicated to Dewi Danu, the goddess of water, and is one of the nine directional temples in Bali that protect the island and its people from evil spirits.

The temple is surrounded by a picturesque lake and mountainous scenery, which makes it one of the most popular tourist destinations on the island. The lake is also a major source of irrigation for the surrounding rice paddies and farms, and is an important source of freshwater for the island.

The temple itself is a beautiful example of Balinese architecture, with multi-tiered pagodas and thatched roofs made of alang-alang grass. The temple complex consists of several shrines and pavilions, each with their own unique purpose and significance. The most prominent structure in the complex is the main pagoda, which is dedicated to the goddess Dewi Danu.

Visitors to the temple can explore the various shrines and pavilions, and learn about the significance of each one. The temple is also surrounded by beautiful gardens, which are a great place to relax and take in the scenery. Boat rides and water sports are also available on the lake, making it a popular spot for water activities.

Pura Ulun Danu Beratan is an important cultural and spiritual landmark in Bali, and is a must-see destination for visitors to the island. (Destinasi)
